

(Breakthrough, September 1986)

THE FOURTH ANNUAL PROFESSIONAL SEMINAR

This quarter's "BREAKTHROUGH" covers The Monroe Institute's (TMI) Fourth Annual Professional Seminar, and highlights two of the presentations made to attending Professional Members.

The 1986 Seminar was the largest ever, with some forty individuals sitting in on most or all of the ten presentations and evening chats with Bob Monroe. Those individuals represented a wide range of professions and skills including: plastic surgery, physical therapy, management consulting, pharmacy, music, speech pathology, community services, psychotherapy, hospice care, textile manufacturing, psychology, GATEWAY training, mental health care, TMI Explorer and lab research, and hypnotherapy.

A synopsis of the presentations follows:

Music and Hemi-Sync®: Impact on Learning

Suzanne E. Morris, Ph.D. Speech-Language Pathologist

The role which music can play as part of the learning environment and the potential value of Hemi-Sync signals within the musical selection. Information from preliminary studies in the use of Hemi-Sync music in adult continuing-education programs and in the rehabilitation of children with developmental disabilities.

Introducing Hemi-Sync to Health Care Practitioners

Ron Brill, Ph.D. - Clinical Psychologist

Some techniques successfully used in implementing Hemi-Sync technology with health care practitioners for relaxation, stress management and personal growth and development.

Remote Viewing: The "TERM" Method of Growth

Joseph McMoneagle, Pres., Intuitive Intelligence Applications

The concept of "time" and its effect on Remote Viewing. How philosophic belief concepts influence learning ability.

Channeling Medical Information: Interface Between Two Dimensions

*Al Dahlberg, Ph.D., M.D. - Prof. Medical Science, Brown Univ.
Teresa Pope "Winter", M.A., Psychologist, Trainer, Psychic*

A number of medical cases they have worked on together.

Making the Connection: Business - Consciousness

James Jones, M.A., Organizational Consultant, Trainer

Application of Hemi-Sync in a business environment, translation of Hemi-Sync technology into management terms, generation of internal support.

Biofeedback: What and Why

Karen Malik - Director of Biofeedback Program, Gateway Trainer

Biofeedback - what it is, why it works, uses and benefits. Projections on the use of Hemi-Sync and biofeedback.

Integration of Hemi-Sync into a Diversified Health Clinic

Edward Lasko, Biofeedback Therapist & Registered Certified Hypnotherapist

How Hemi-Sync, biofeedback and hypnosis are used in a medical setting to provide a non-traditional approach to pain control and dealing with emotional and physical problems.

Practical Applications of Hemi-Sync in Regressive Therapy or Repress It or Regress It

Dan Clausing - Hypnotherapist

Hypnosis and general misconceptions. Belief systems as they relate to the effectiveness of regression therapy. A group regression.

High Tech Vision Quest: Similarities of Gateway Programs of Native Americans and TMI Gateway Programs

Ann "Morning Dove" Martin, M.A. - Gateway/Guidelines® Trainer

Similarities between Sweet Medicine Sundance Teaching Gateway Program and The Monroe Institute GATEWAY VOYAGE®.

Progress in the Explorer Program

Rita Warren, Ph.D., Martin Warren, M.A. - Coordinators and Monitors of the Explorer Research

An overview of the Explorer research in the past year. The shift of energy in the Explorers and its effect on the monitor's role.

Hemi-Sync® is a registered trademark of Interstate Industries, Inc.

© 1986 The Monroe Institute